Alice's Adventures in Wonderland =====

Chapter 1: Down the Rabbit Hole -----

Alice was beginning to get very tired of sitting by her sister on the bank, and of having nothing to do: once or twice she had peeped into the book her sister was reading, but it had no pictures or conversations in it, "and what is the use of a book," thought Alice, "without pictures or conversations?"

So she was considering in her own mind (as well as she could, for the hot day made her feel very sleepy and stupid), whether the pleasure of making a daisy-chain would be worth the trouble of getting up and picking the daisies, when suddenly a White Rabbit with pink eyes ran close by her.

There was nothing so very remarkable in that; nor did Alice think it so very much out of the way to hear the Rabbit say to itself, "Oh dear! Oh dear! I shall be too late!" (when she thought it over afterwards, it occurred to her that she ought to have wondered at this, but at the time it all seemed quite natural); but when the Rabbit actually took a watch out of its waistcoat-pocket, and looked at it, and then hurried on, Alice started to her feet, for it flashed across her mind that she had never before seen a rabbit with either a waistcoat-pocket, or a watch to take out of it, and burning with curiosity, she ran across the field after it, and was just in time to see it pop down a large rabbit-hole under the hedge.

Chapter 2: The Pool of Tears -----

The rabbit-hole went straight on like a tunnel for some way, and then dipped suddenly down, so suddenly that Alice had not a moment to think about stopping herself before she found herself falling down a deep well.

Either the well was very deep, or she fell very slowly, for she had plenty of time to look about her, and to wonder what was going to happen next.

"Well!" thought Alice to herself, "after such a fall as this, I shall think nothing of tumbling down-stairs! How brave they'll all think me at home! Why, I wouldn't say anything about it, even if I fell off the top of the house!" (Which was very likely true.)

Chapter 3: A Caucus-Race and a Long Tale -----

They were indeed a queer-looking party that assembled on the bank—the birds with draggled feathers, the animals with their fur clinging to them, and all dripping wet, cross, and uncomfortable.

The first thing they thought of was to get dry, and the best way to get dry was to have a Caucus-race. This, as far as Alice could see, was to be a sort of general election, and the candidates were to run round and round the bank until they were quite dry.

"What is a Caucus-race?" said Alice.

"Why," said the Dodo, "it's the most curious thing! First, the candidates run round and round the bank until they are quite dry: then they stand still, and the crowd cheers: and then the candidates run round and round the bank again until they are quite dry again: and then the crowd cheers again, and so on."
